3. Supervision of the Internal Audit Department

The most important issues regarding the supervision of the operation of the Internal Audit Department during the year 2020 are the following:

General reference to the Internal Control System

On the Evaluation of the Internal Control System - Procedures, and Corporate Governance, the Audit Committee, in the context of its responsibilities in relation to the supervision of the Internal Audit system of the company informed the Board of EYDAP SA as follows:

➤ The Company's first line of defense in 2020 remains weak due to the lack of policies, systems and procedures based on which risks are identified, controlled and minimized, in important operations of the Company. It is emphasized, however, that the Company proceeded in 2020 to approve-update certain Regulations and Policies, in order to align it with its strategic priorities, for regulatory compliance, compliance and implementation of all quality operating standards and risk management throughout the business operation.

By 2021, other policies and regulations related to corporate governance and operations are expected to be completed.

➤ The second line of defense, which consists of the Risk Management Unit (RMU) and the Regulatory Compliance Unit (RCU), does not exist. For 2021, the operation of RMU and RCU was launched through the new Organization Chart and is expected to contribute to the improvement of the Operations and the Internal Control System of the Company.

➤ The Third Line of Defense (Internal Audit Division) is considered satisfactory given the constraints that exist, due to the limited control consciousness of the controlled units and the insufficiency of human resources.

2020 Annual Audit Program Execution

For 2020, the Internal Audit Department offered satisfactory work to the Company, through the performed audits, contributing to the improvement of the Corporate Processes through the identification of the weaknesses identified, thus reducing the risks and contributing to the most efficient and economical of the Company, in the optimization and acceleration of the procedures, in the reduction of the risk of imposition of fines, in the reduction of the risk of financial losses, in the enhancement of the transparency and the moral climate.

In some cases, during the audit work, there was a high supply of important, adequate, accurate and useful information to the Management, resulting in immediate action to avoid and correct significant errors.

The Performance Index of the Annual Audit Program for the year 2020 (implementation rate 70%) is considered satisfactory given the limitations of the Internal Audit Department due to:

- The special operating conditions of the Company, due to the pandemic, where there are significant delays in sending responses and data by the audited services, while it has become difficult, and often prohibitive, to conduct on-site audits in various organizational units.
- The lack of human resources, in proportion to the range of the audit program and the size of the company. The absence of specialized auditors in the fields of Informatics-Engineering-Finance, makes it necessary to strengthen the operational adequacy of the Internal Audit Department, in order to achieve its objectives and the most effective coverage of the annual audit plan.

During the regular quarterly updates of the Audit Committee and the Internal Audit Department to the BoD, within 2020, the findings and proposals for corrective actions of each audit have been formulated in detail.

The progress of implementation of corrective actions by the competent organizational units, on findings of integrated audit reports, is monitored by the IAD and reviewed by the AC periodically and is considered, so far, partially satisfactory, compared to the same period in 2019, however interventions by the Management to optimize it.

An electronic platform for recording and monitoring the implementation process operates for the monitoring of the corrective actions resulting from audits, for the immediate and real-time information of the competent organizational units and the Administration. In this implementation that was implemented, following the Audit Committee's directives, the findings and proposals per audit are recorded and their implementation is monitored by the competent Divisions. However, there are long delays in implementation progress. The Audit Committee recommends the establishment of a permanent regular monitoring mechanism for the resolution, for the open findings of Audit Reports of previous years.

2021 Audits Scheduling

The Audit Program for the year 2021 was prepared by the IAD and reviewed by the AC, before its submission for discussion to the Board of EYDAP SA. The AC considered the proposed areas for scrutiny, in line with the IAD proposals, and unanimously considered that the control environment in relation to risk assessment is adequately reflected, in line with the risk-based approach followed by the legal framework. and regulatory framework and International Standards on Internal Auditing.

In addition to the scheduled audits, the Internal Audit Department will undertake, in case of a relevant order, to carry out extraordinary audits and will proceed to follow up audits that have been completed.

In 2020, the performance of the IAD and its audit work was affected by the restrictive measures imposed, due to the Covid 19 pandemic and the limited number of auditors employed.

It is noted that there are still areas for improvement, which, do not prevent the operation of the Internal Audit Department from performing its responsibilities, however complicate its work, regarding the adequacy and effectiveness of the internal control system in some areas of work, as it is areas directly related to the reduced efficiency of the first line of defense and the non-existence of the second line defense in the year 2020.
